Research Bulletin

OF THE

National Education Association

INDEX TO VOLUME XVIII, 1940

Academic freedom: conclusions as to public opinion on, 208; oaths required of classroom teachers, 72; public opinion on question, Should teachers discuss issues?, 198, 208, 213; public opinion on question, Should youth discuss issues?, 197, 208, 213; references on, 78; status of the teaching profession, 72-73.
Administration of local schools: adapted to needs of professional teachers, 36.
Administrators: responsibility for improvement, 15. See also Rural superintendents.
Age: estimated median, of teachers, 55.
Alexander, Thomas: referred to, 12, 38, 39.
Altstetter, M. L.: referred to, 38.
Alves, Henry F.: referred to, 77, 78, 152, 153.
American Association of Teachers Colleges: referred to, 38.
American Chemical Society: report cited, 38.
American City Bureau: referred to, 13, 19.
American Council on Education, Commission on Teacher Education: studies of teacher education cited, 38.
American Council on Education, Committee on Implementation of Studies in Secondary Education: and survey of public opinion on youth and education, 191; appointed in 1939, 188.
American Federation of Labor: American Federation of Teachers affiliated with, 69.
American Federation of Teachers: a professional association of teachers, 69.
American Historical Association, Commission on the Social Studies: report quoted, 33; reports cited, 38.
American Institute of Public Opinion: facts collected by, as to youth and education, 188; founded, 190; referred to, 191, 192, 210; surveys conducted by, 191.
American Youth Commission: and survey of opinion on youth and education, 188, 191, 192.
Anderson, E. M.: referred to, 159.
Association for Childhood Education: report on teacher education cited, 38.
Attendance: rural school, 155-57.
Axtelle, George E.: referred to, 39.

Bacon, Francis: quoted, 52.
Bagley, William C.: referred to, 38, 77.
Beale, Howard K.: referred to, 78.
Benson, Lawrence: and survey of opinion on youth and education, 191, 192.
Bibliography: of public opinion on education, 210; of the status of the teaching profession, 77-78; of teacher education, 38-39.
Blose, David T.: referred to, 54, 77, 78.
Blue, Harold G.: referred to, 6, 16.
Boykin, James C.: referred to, 30.
Brewton, John E.: referred to, 150.
Broady, Knute O.: referred to, 157.
Brooks, Fowler D.: quoted, 33.
Broudy, H. S.: referred to, 137.
Brunner, Edmund de S.: referred to, 137, 157.
Brutus: Cassius' classic reply to, 52.
Bryce, James: quoted, 189.
Buckingham, B. R.: referred to, 39.
Butterworth, Julian E.: referred to, 152.

Cantril, Hadley: and survey of opinion on youth and education, 192; foreword signed by, 188; referred to, 210.
Carr, William G.: foreword signed by, 188.
Cassius: classic reply to Brutus, 52.
City teachers: a look ahead, 35-37; administration of salary schedules, based on preparation of, 32; average levels of preparation of elementary, in 14 school systems, 1916-17 and 1938-39, 14; average salaries paid, by geographic region, 1938-39, 25; better social and economic recognition of teaching, 36-37; changes from 1919-20 to 1938-39 in levels of preparation of, 13; changes from 1919-20 to 1938-39 in years of experience of, in service in cities over 10,000 in population, 19; changes in levels of experience of, in service in certain school systems, 20; changes in percent of, with 4 or more years of preparation, in 10 school systems, 14; comparative status of rural and, 161; comparative status of rural and, in the same districts with respect to training, experience, tenure, and salary, 161; constructive program of professional growth in service, 37; differences in preparation, experience, and salaries of, in relation to size of city, school division, and region, 1938-39, 29; encouraging, to continue their professional growth, 33; enriched curriculum for prospective, 36; estimated average annual salaries of, 1920-39, 22; estimated distribution of salaries paid to, 1938-39, 23; factors tending to reduce the proportion of young, 21; fourteen years of progress of teacher preparation in Pennsylvania, 14; how salary schedules recognize preparation of, 30-31; increased participation by, in community living, 37; influences tending toward greater permanence in the profession of, 20-21; influences tending toward transiency in the profession of, 21; length of service of, by city size, 16-17; length of service of, by region, 18; length of service of, by school division, 17-18; length of service of Negro, 18; levels of preparation of, as related to regional distribution, 10-11; levels of preparation of, as related to school division, 9-10; levels of preparation of, as related to size of city, 7-9; levels of preparation of, 1938-39, by school division, 9; levels of preparation of, in service, 7-15; levels of preparation of, in service, 1938-39, by geographic region, 42; levels of preparation of, in service, 1938-39, by size of city, 41; levels of preparation of, in service in 122 cities over 30,000 in population, 1938-39, by type of salary schedule, 47; levels of preparation of, in service in segregated schools for Negro pupils, 1938-39, by size of city, 11; levels of preparation of, in service in segregated schools for Negro pupils, 1938-39, detailed distribution by size of city, 43; levels of training of, under salary schedules of different types, 31-32; levels of preparation of elementary-school, working under two types of salary schedules, 32; levels of preparation of Negro, 11; local school administration adapted to needs of professional, 36; median levels of preparation and percent of, with 4 years' preparation, in 122 cities over 30,000 in population, by type of salary schedule, 32; median levels of preparation of, 1938-39, by region, 10; median levels of preparation of, in service, 1938-39, by size of city, 7; median salaries of, in Michigan, 1937-38, according to level of preparation, 28; median salaries paid, grouped according to amount of experience of, 1938-39, 25; median salaries paid, grouped according to level of preparation of, 1938-39, 24; median years of teaching service of, in service, 1938-39, by geographic region, 18; median years of teaching experience of, in service, 1938-39, by size of city, 17; median years of teaching experience of, in service in segregated schools for Negro pupils, 1938-39, by size of city, 18; percent of, at each of 5 levels of preparation, 1938-39, by school division, 9; percent of, with 4 or more years of preparation, 1938-39, by size of city, 8; percent of, with 4 or more years of preparation, 1938-39, by region, 11; preparation and experience of Negro, as related to salaries, 24-25; recognition of full professional status of elementary-school teaching, 33; regional comparisons of salaries of, as related to training and experience, 25-26; regional differences in preparation, experience, and salaries of, 1938-39, 27; relationship of various factors to levels of salaries of, in Minnesota cities below 30,000 in population, 1937-38, 26; salaries and experience of, 24; salaries and preparation of, 23–24; salaries of, in relation to preparation and experience, 22–29; salary schedules in relation to levels of preparation of, 30–34; selective admission to the teaching profession, 35–36; state studies of relationship of salaries to preparation and experience, 26–28; studies of teacher education, 38–39; trend toward longer service for, 19–21; upward trends in levels of preparation of, 12–15; why the disparity between qualifications and salaries, 28; years of experience of, in service, 16–21; years of experience of 193,601, in service, 1938–39, 17; years of teaching experience of, in service, 1938–39, by size of city, 44–45; years of teaching experience of, in service in segregated schools for Negro pupils, 1938–39, by size of city, 46. See also Negro teachers in city schools; Salary schedules of city school teachers; Status of the teaching profession; Trends affecting the future status of teachers.

Clark, Harold F.: referred to, 77.
Claxton, P. P.: referred to, 14.
Cocking, Walter D.: referred to, 143.
Columbia University, Teachers College, Division of Field Studies: Pittsburgh School Survey referred to, 191.
Community living: increased participation by teachers in, 37.
Consolidation. See Rural education.
Cook, Katherine M.: referred to, 10.
Cooperative Study of Secondary School Standards: studies of teacher education cited, 38.
Curriculum: and instructional supplies in rural education, 168; development in rural education, 173; enriched, for prospective teachers, 36.
Cyr, Frank W.: referred to, 152.

David, Paul T.: foreword signed by, 188.
Dawson, Howard A.: referred to, 152.
Dawson, Virginia: referred to, 159.
Democracy: current public discussion and reinterpretation of education in a, 76; public opinion and, 189.
Dunn, Fannie W.: referred to, 158.

Economic status: of teachers, 60–61; references on, 77.
Edwards, Newton: and survey of opinion on youth and education, 191.
Eells, Kenneth W.: referred to, 78.
Eells, Walter Crosby: referred to, 77.
Elsbree, Willard S.: referred to, 77.
Eurich, Alvin C.: referred to, 15.
Evenden, E. S.: referred to, 6, 7, 16, 19, 30, 33, 39, 77.
Experience of teachers. See City teachers.

Federal Works Agency, PWA, Division of Information: press release cited, 154.
Finance: conclusions as to public opinion on finance and federal aid, 209; for rural schools, 146–49; increase or decrease in percent of school revenue obtained from state sources in 1938 as compared with 1928, 147; legislation affecting rural schools, 143–44; percent of school revenue obtained from state sources in 1938, 148; public opinion on question, Is too much spent for schools?, 201; public opinion on question, Should the poorer states be helped?, 202; public opinion on question, What should be spent for Negro education?, 204; recent trends in rural school support, 146–47; trends in acquiring and spending public revenue, 75–76; trends in state school support, 147–49; urgent needs in rural school support, 146.
Frazier, Benjamin W.: referred to, 39, 77.
Friswold, I. O.: referred to, 152.

Gallup, George: founded American Institute of Public Opinion, 190; referred to, 210.
Gamble, Guy C.: referred to, 6, 16.
Gaumnitz, W. H.: referred to, 6, 10, 77.
General Education Board: funds obtained from, 38, 188, 191.
Givens, Willard E.: forewords by, 4, 52, 84, 132.
Glenn, Charles B.: referred to, 5.
Gowans, Harry W.: quoted, 34.
Grace, Alonzo G.: referred to, 152.

Havighurst, Robert J.: and survey of opinion on youth and education, 191.
Health: health services in rural schools, 171–72; instruction in health education in rural schools, 171; public opinion on required physical examinations for school children, 200; references on mental and physical health of teachers, 78; status of classroom teachers, 70–71.
Henzlik, Frank E.: referred to, 15, 39.
Herring, E. Pendleton: referred to, 210.
Holy, T. C.: referred to, 152.
Hope, James H.: referred to, 155.
Hoskins, E. R.: referred to, 158.
Hubbard, Frank W.: and survey of opinion on youth and education, 192.
Hubler, Richard G.: referred to, 210.

International Institute of Teachers College: yearbook cited, 78.
Irwin, Manley E.: referred to, 78.

Jaggers, Richard E.: referred to, 39.
John Dewey Society: yearbook cited, 39.
Juckett, E. A.: referred to, 158.

Keesecker, Ward W.: referred to, 78.
Keith, John A. H.: referred to, 77.
Kentucky Department of Education: bulletin cited, 154.
King, Roberta: referred to, 30.
Kolb, John H.: referred to, 137, 157.

Latham, Frank B.: referred to, 210.
Legislation: affecting rural schools, 143–46, 176–77. See also Academic freedom; Retirement; Tenure.
Library of Congress, Legislative Reference Service: referred to, 143.
Library services: in rural schools, 172.
Lincoln, Abraham: quoted, 188, 189.

Marital status of teachers: estimated proportion of men and women teachers who are married, 55.
Mathematical Association of America: report cited, 38.
McGehee, Tom: referred to, 153.
Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Welfare Division: report cited, 78.
Michigan Education Association: public opinion survey referred to, 191, 210; Subcommittee of Professional Problems Committee referred to, 28.
Minnesota Education Association: Committee on Research and Information referred to, 26.
Mobility: of teachers, 59; references on, 77.
Modern Foreign Language Study: report cited, 38.
Moffett, M'Ledge: referred to, 77.
Morphet, Edgar L.: referred to, 152.
Murchison, Carl A.: referred to, 33.

National Committee on Science Teaching: referred to, 39.
National Council for the Social Studies: report cited, 38.
National Education Association: Addresses and Proceedings referred to, 12; Journal referred to, 39, 68; proportion of teachers in, 1939, 68; resolution quoted, 80; studies of teacher education cited, 38–39.
National Education Association, American Association of School Administrators: yearbook cited, 158, 159.
National Education Association, Committee on Academic Freedom: report cited, 78.
National Education Association, Committee on the Economic Status of the Rural Teacher: report referred to, 60, 77, 78, 159, 160, 161.
National Education Association, Committee on the Economic Status of the Teacher: report cited, 39.
National Education Association, Committee on Equal Opportunity: referred to, 31.
National Education Association, Committee on Salaries: referred to, 31; study of city teachers suggested by, 4.
National Education Association, Committee on Supply, Preparation, and Certification of Teachers: report cited, 39.
National Education Association, Committee on Tenure: reports cited, 78, 145.
National Education Association, Department of Classroom Teachers: yearbook referred to, 70, 78.
National Education Association, Department of Normal Schools: referred to, 38.
National Education Association, Department of Rural Education: reports cited, 154, 157, 158.
National Education Association, Research Bulletin: referred to, 22, 23, 28, 56, 58, 62, 64, 66, 77, 78, 128, 132, 143, 144, 145, 147, 154, 156, 159.
National Education Association, Research Division and American Association of School Administrators: Educational Research Service Circulars referred to, 34, 78.
National Education Association, Research Division and National Council on Teacher Retirement: report cited, 78, 145.
National Education Association and American Association of School Administrators, Educational Policies Commission: and survey of opinion on youth and education, 192; referred to, 78; report quoted, 33, 69, 184.
National Society for the Study of Education: Committee on General Education in the American College referred to, 15.
National Society of College Teachers of Education: yearbook referred to, 12, 39.
National Study of Professional Education in Health and Physical Education: report cited, 38.
National Survey of the Education of Teachers: quoted, 16, 30, 33; referred to, 39.
National Youth Administration: public information and opinion on, 206–207, 208.
Negro education: public opinion as to what should be spent for, 204. See also Negro teachers in city schools.

Negro teachers in city schools: length of service of, by region, 18; levels of preparation of, 11–12; levels of preparation of, 1938–39, by size of city, 11; levels of preparation of, in service, 1938–39, detailed distribution by size of city, 43; median years of teaching experience of, 1938-39, by size of city, 18; preparation and experience of, as related to salaries, 24–25; years of teaching experience of, in service, 1938–39, by size of city, 46. See also City teachers; Negro education; Status of the teaching profession; Trends affecting the future status of teachers.
Neilson, N. P.: referred to, 13, 38.
Niles, David: referred to, 154.
Noble, M. C. S.: referred to, 144, 155.
North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools: Committee on the Preparation of Secondary School Teachers referred to, 39; committees referred to, 15, 39.

Oberholtzer, E. E.: referred to, 5.
Odum, Howard W.: referred to, 10.

Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction: referred to, 13, 14.
Peter, Lily: referred to, 157.
Phillips, Burr W.: referred to, 38.
Population trends: affecting the future status of teachers, 74–75; rural and urban enrolments, 1930 and 1940, 135; rural school enrolments, 135–36.
Preparation of teachers. See City teachers.
Professional associations of teachers: membership in, 68–69; recognition of the need for professional unity, 76; references on, 78.
Professional growth in service: constructive program of, 37; increased opportunities for, 74.
Progressive Education Association: a professional association of teachers, 69; Commission on the Relation of School and College referred to, 39; Committee on Workshops and Field Service referred to, 39; studies of teacher education cited, 39.
Public opinion: and democracy, 189; and education, 189–90; answers to questions tabulated by certain characteristics of sample population, 214–16; classification of 3819 persons interviewed, 192; determining factors, 208; measurement of, 190–91; on question, Do high schools prepare only for college?, 196; on question, Do teachers favor the wealthy?, 199; on question, Has education improved?, 195; on question, Is education overemphasized?, 193-94; on question, Is too much spent for schools?, 201; on question, Should government provide work for youth?, 206–207; on question, Should many high-school students stop school and go to work?, 205; on question, Should physical examinations be required?, 200; on question, Should poorer families be helped to educate their children?, 203; on question, Should the poorer states be helped?, 202; on question, Should teachers discuss issues?, 198; on question, Should youth discuss issues?, 197; on question, What should be spent for Negro education?, 204; on youth and education, general conclusions on, 208–209; survey blank, reproduced, 217–18; survey of, on youth and education, described, 191–92. See also Public relations.
Public relations: community problems in rural education, 168–69; conclusions on, 209; current public discussion and reinterpretation of education in a democracy, 76; in rural education, 174; included in checklist on rural schools, 181. See also Public opinion.
Purin, C. M.: referred to, 38.
Pyle, Theresa P.: referred to, 77.

Questionnaire: number and percent of replies from rural superintendents in each region, 133; of opinion on youth and education, reproduced, 217–18; on professional training and teaching experience, distribution of, 5; same reproduced, 40; on rural education, distribution of replies, 133–34; survey of opinion on youth and education, described, 191-92.

Rae, Saul Forbes: referred to, 190, 210.
Reeves, Floyd W.: appointed committee to direct poll of public opinion, 188.
Retirement: active state enabling laws, 85-86; actuarial investigation of service and death experience, 103, 114, 123; administration of system, 91–92, 99, 105–106, 117; anticipated security of classroom teachers, 66; compulsory retirement, 109–10, 120; detailed tabulations of local provisions, 89–124; digest of local provisions, 85–88; disability retirement, 95–96, 101–102, 110–11, 120–21; dormant state enabling laws, 125–26; employee participation in administration of system, 91–92, 99, 105–106, 117; employee's contributions, 92–93, 99–100, 106–107, 117–18; employer's contributions, 92–93, 99–100, 106–107, 117–18; funds insufficient, 114; financial structure of plan in Minneapolis, 97; financial structure of plan in New Orleans, 115; financial structure of plans in New York and Baltimore, 124; legal basis of plans adopted solely upon local authorization, 117; local, by special state legislation, 86–87; local, solely by local authorization, 87; local provisions of 7 systems founded on enabling acts of Iowa and Minnesota, 98–103; location of 65 local systems for teachers, 88; membership voluntary or compulsory, 93, 100, 107–108, 118–19; miscellaneous local provisions, 125; optional benefits, 102, 112, 121; payments in case of withdrawal or death before, 102–103, 112–13, 122; prior service credit, 111–12, 121; provisions for, 66–67, 78; provisions for accepting act authorizing local establishment of, 91; provisions of plans adopted solely upon local authorization, 116–24; provisions of special mandatory state legislation providing for, in certain cities or classes of cities, 104–15; provisions of state permissive laws authorizing local establishment of teacher retirement funds, 90–97; qualifications for superannuation or service retirement, 94, 100, 108–109, 119; relationship between local and statewide systems, 126–27; relationship between local and statewide systems in New York, 126–27; same, Louisiana, 127; same, Utah, 127; same, Washington, 127; restrictions on investments, 103, 113, 122; scope of legal provisions of special mandatory state legislation, 105; scope of provisions of state permissive laws authorizing local establishment of, 91; special provisions for employees of advanced age, 96; summary of local provisions, 87–88; superannuation or service retirement allowance, 94–95, 101, 108–109, 119; type of plan adopted solely upon local authorization, 117; type of plan provided by special mandatory state legislation, 105; types of positions covered, 93, 100, 107–108, 118-19.
Reynolds, Ivan: referred to, 153.
Roberts, C. E.: referred to, 152.
Rogers, James Frederick: referred to, 78.
Roosevelt, Franklin D.: quoted, 220.
Rope, Frederick T.: referred to, 191, 210.
Roper, Elmo: referred to, 210.
Rural education: administrative and supervisory leadership, 161–64; administrative changes and reorganizations, 172; advice of rural superintendents as to next steps in, 175; amount of consolidation recommended in various regions in the United States, 151; amount of further consolidation needed, 149–52; amount of further consolidation recommended for their respective counties by 521 rural superintendents, 150; amount of rural territory in the districts represented in study, 134; areas of outstanding achievement in, 170; attendance, 155–57; average experience of rural elementary teachers, 160; average length of service in the same teaching positions for rural elementary teachers, 160; average salaries of rural elementary teachers, 161; changes in, believed to be most urgently needed by 864 rural superintendents, 176; changes with respect to status of county superintendency recommended as urgently needed in their respective communities by 637 rural superintendents, 164; checklist for rural schools, 179–81; community problems, 168–69; comparative status of rural and urban teachers in the same districts with respect to training, experience, tenure, and salary, 161; comparative status of rural and urban teachers, 161; consolidation, 149–53; consolidation of school districts, 152; cooperation of colleges with rural schools, 174; curriculum and instructional supplies, 168; curriculum development, 173; educational background of rural superintendents, 162–63; educational experience of rural superintendents, 163; enrolments, 135–36; equipment and supplies, 174; equipment needs, 167; examples of consolidation in various states and regions, 152; exemption of certain pupils from compulsory school attendance because of distance from school facilities, 156; experience of rural teachers, 160; extracurriculum activities, 174; finance legislation affecting, 143-44; financing, 146–49; health services, 171–72; general overview of, 139–42; housing problems, 166; implications for rural administrators, 175; improvements in personnel, 173; improvements in school housing, 173; improving, thru legislation, 176, increase or decrease in percent of school revenue obtained from state sources in 1938 as compared with 1928, 147; instructional program, 157–59; keeping in mind the total program, 138; legislation affecting, 143–46; legislation affecting attendance, 144; legislation affecting district organization of, 144; legislation affecting pupil transportation, 144; legislation affecting teachers, 145; length of continuous service in present position as reported by rural superintendents, 163; library services, 172; local initiative in improving, 177; major trends in, 1930 to 1940, 139–64; miscellaneous legislative provisions, 145; next steps in, 176–77; nonfarm children in rural schools, 137; number and percent of questionnaire replies from superintendents in each region, 133; number and percent of replies recommending various methods of employment for rural superintendents, 164; number of schools of different sizes and types, 1940, 136; number of schools of various sizes and types in 915 rural districts in 1930 and 1940, 149; numerous types of achievement in a single county, 175; outlook for underprivileged schools, 169; percent of districts in each geographic region reporting some improvement in certain phases of, 141; percent of school revenue obtained from state sources in 1938, 148; percent of schools of various sizes and types now in operation as compared with the percent recommended by 521 rural superintendents, 151; the problem of, 135–38; professional preparation of rural teachers, 159–60; professional training of rural elementary teachers, 159; public relations, 174; questionnaire, distribution of replies, 133–34; recent trends in rural school support, 146–47; regional differences, 169; responsibility for rural supervision, 161–62; rural and urban enrolments, 1930 and 1940, 135; salaries of rural teachers, 160–61; school housing and equipment, 154–55; schoolboard practices, 169; service period of teachers in the same school, 160; short school terms, 169; size of one-teacher schools in various regions of the United States, 137; size of school, 166–67; size of teaching staff, 137; sizes and types of schools, 136–37; some grave deficiencies of, 165–70; some noteworthy achievements of, 170–75; some outstanding problems in, 165; sources of data on, 133; special significance of, 137–38; special types of educational service, 173; specific examples of strength and weakness in programs, 165–75; state leadership in, 177; suggested improvements in the superintendency, 163–64; summary of defects mentioned by superintendents, 165; supervisory activities of rural superintendents, 162; teaching procedures, 172; teaching service, a problem of, 167–68; the teaching staff, 159–61; ten-year trend in certain phases of, as reported by 1000 rural superintendents, 142; ten-year trend with respect to certain phases of, in 43 states, 140–41; terms of office and service periods of rural superintendents, 163; too many grade levels, 169; trends in state school support, 147–49; urgent needs in rural school support, 146. See also Rural superintendents; Rural teachers.

Rural superintendents: administrative and supervisory leadership, 161; the advice of, as to next steps in rural education, 175; amount of consolidation recommended by, in various regions in the United States, 151; amount of further consolidation recommended for their respective counties by 521, 150; areas of outstanding achievement in rural education, mentioned by 454, 170; changes in rural education believed to be most urgently needed by 864, 176; changes with respect to status of county superintendency recommended as urgently needed in their respective communities by 637, 164; educational background of, 162–63; educational experience of, 163; implications for, 175; instruction in specified departments or subjects, 170; length of continuous service in present position as reported by, 163; number and percent of questionnaire replies from, in each region, 133; number and percent of replies recommending various methods of employment for, 164; percent of schools of various sizes and types now in operation as compared with percent recommended by 521, 151; questionnaire submitted to, 133–34; specific examples of strength and weakness in rural programs mentioned by, 165–75; suggested improvements in the superintendency, 163–64; supervisory activities of, 162; ten-year trend in certain phases of rural education as reported by 1000, 142; terms of office and service periods of, 163. See also Rural education; Rural teachers.

Rural teachers: average experience of elementary, 160; average length of service in the same teaching positions for elementary, 160; average salaries of elementary, 161; comparative status of urban and, 161; comparative status of urban and, in the same districts with respect to training, experience, tenure, and salary, 161; experience of, 160; improvements in personnel, 173; legislation affecting, 145; professional preparation of, 159–60; professional training in elementary, 159; salaries of, 160–61; service period of, in the same school, 160; size of rural teaching staff, 137; teaching service, a problem of rural education, 167–68; the teaching staff, 159–61. See also City teachers; Rural education; Rural superintendents; Status of the teaching profession.

Salaries. See City teachers; Rural teachers; Salary schedules of city school teachers.

Salary schedules of city school teachers: administration of, based on preparation, 32; encouraging teachers to continue their professional growth, 33; how they recognize preparation, 30–31; in relation to levels of preparation, 30–34; levels of preparation of elementary-school teachers, working under two types of, 32; levels of preparation of teachers in service in 122 cities over 30,000 in population, 1938–39, by type of, 47; levels of training of teachers under different types of, 31–32; median levels of preparation and percent of teachers with 4 years' preparation, in 122 cities over 30,000 in population, by type of, 32.

Schatzmann, I. E.: referred to, 157.

Scott, Cecil Winfield: referred to, 78.

Sex: proportion of men and women teachers, 54–55.

Sexson, John A.: referred to, 5.

Skidmore, Charles H.: referred to, 153.

Status of the teaching profession: academic freedom, 72–73, 78; annual salaries of classroom teachers, by size of city, 60; anticipated retirement security of classroom teachers, 66; classroom teachers rate their professional loads, 62; college preparation of classroom teachers, 56; distribution of classroom teachers by school division, 54; educational preparation and certification, 56–57, 77; general composition of the teaching population, 54–55, 77; general health status of classroom teachers, 70; mental and physical health, 70–71, 78; oaths required of classroom teachers, 72; professional associations of teachers, 68–69, 78; professional experience and mobility, 58–59, 77; professional experience of classroom teachers, 58; professional load, 62–63, 78; proportion of teachers in the National Education Association, 1939, 68; provisions for tenure, 64–65, 78; provisions for retirement, 66–67, 78; salaries and economic condition, 60–61, 77; sources of information, 77–78; tenure protection for classroom teachers, 64; trends affecting the future, 74–76; typical public school teacher, 55. See also City teachers; Negro teachers in city schools; Rural teachers; Trends affecting the future status of teachers.

Stoddard, A. J.: referred to, 5.

Strayer, George D.: referred to, 5, 12, 19, 77.

Stribling, Grace: referred to, 159.

Studensky, Paul: referred to, 78.

Teacher load: of classroom teachers, 62–63; references on, 78.

Teachers. See City teachers; Negro teachers in city schools; Rural teachers; Trends affecting the future status of teachers; Status of the teaching profession.

Tenure: references on, 78; protection for classroom teachers, 64–65; provisions for, 64–65; years of experience of teachers in service, 16–21.

Thayer, V. T.: referred to, 39.

Threlkeld, A. L.: referred to, 5.

Tippetts, J. R.: referred to, 153.

Trends affecting the future status of teachers: a look ahead as to preparation, salaries, and experience, 35–37; current public discussion and reinterpretation of education in a democracy, 76; in acquiring and spending public revenue, 75–76; in rural education, 1930 to 1940, 139–64; movements within the profession to improve the quality of teaching service, 74; occupational, 75; population, 74–75; recognition of the need for professional unity of teachers, 76; recent trends in rural school support, 146–47; the trend toward longer service for city school teachers, 19–21; trends in state school support, 147–49; upward trends in levels of preparation of city school teachers, 12–15.

Trent, W. W.: referred to, 153.

Umstattd, J. G.: referred to, 78.

United States Civil Service Commission: referred to, 23.

United States Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics: referred to, 22, 26.

United States Office of Education: referred to, 6, 22, 53, 54, 64, 66, 77, 78, 135, 137, 143, 149, 155, 159, 160; National Survey of the Education of Teachers referred to, 39.

Updegraff, Robert R.: referred to, 210.

Van Til, William: referred to, 210.

Waltermire, Helen M.: referred to, 166.

Wattenberg, William W.: referred to, 39.

Wechsler, James: referred to, 210.

West Virginia Department of Education: bulletins cited, 157.

Wilks, S. S.: referred to, 210.

Wilson, W. K.: referred to, 153.

Winegarner, Lewis: referred to, 158.

Wofford, Kate V.: referred to, 157.

Youth: conclusions as to public opinion on opportunities for, 208, 209; public information and opinion on NYA, 206–207; public opinion on question, Should government provide work for youth?, 206–207; public opinion on question, Should many high-school students stop school and go to work?, 205; public opinion on question, Should youth discuss issues?, 197; survey of opinion on education and, described, 191–92; same, reproduced, 217–18.